

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to ataxia, in particular to protein and nucleic acids encoding proteins associated with ataxia. The present invention provides assays for the detection of ataxia polymorphisms and mutations associated with disease or disease

5 carrier states.